President's Notes

This week Federal Member Alan Tudge dropped by for a chat. He spoke about issues in aboriginal communities including the fact that in some communities school attendance rates are as low as 17%. The absence of job opportunities does nothing to motivate young people to go to school.

Alan also spoke about the social issues in these communities including child and wife abuse, alcohol and drugs. The government will shortly launch a new type of welfare payment that is a Visa card. This card will prevent the purchase of those products that contribute to the social disharmony in many aboriginal communities.

Initially the card will be trialled in two remote indigenous communities but the principle could be applied to other areas in the wider community.

Alan also emphasised the need to provide intensive social support in the trial communities to deal with the many issues that will emerge from the withdrawal of substances.
 The hand out mentality of the past has not worked so it is important to try something different.
 Members! Members! Members!
 Remember most new members are introduced to the club by you... the current members.
